ST LAWRENCE'S DAY - FRIDAY 10 AUGUST

The Olympics have provided many heroes for folk to admire and for youngsters to attempt to emulate. The athletic prowess and the efforts put in by so many competitors leave many of us awestruck. Surrounded by these images of athletic expertise and iron willpower, many will consider the Olympians to be the most supreme examples of humanity.

In the Church we have our own heroes, our own supreme examples. Most often we call them Saints, acclaimed by those who have followed them in faith. However these men and women were often derided and abused in their own times. This Friday we celebrate our own hero - St Lawrence. He was a deacon in the Church in Rome in the third century. We know that he was put to death under the persecution of many Christians in the reign of the emperor Valerian.

We also know that Lawrence won renown and respect for his loving care for the poor and the sick. His heroism lies in the way that his full attention was focused on other people and their needs.

As we celebrate our patron saint, and ask for his prayers, we might also ask how we might emulate St Lawrence. Do we point to Christ, in our words and actions? Do we see him in the poor and the marginalised and offer them the love and care that they deserve?

May St Lawrence inspire and encourage us in our lives of faith this week and always.

Daniel Humphreys
