“Gratitude like a rare flower is often hard to find” (Ignacio Manuel Altamirano – Mexican writer). I heard this phrase back in the mid-nineties during my first years in seminary and it has accompanied me ever since. If this is true regarding the gratitude we owe to those who serve us, then it is even truer regarding the gratitude we owe to God. For this reason, I don’t want to leave St. Lawrence’s without expressing my heartfelt gratitude to God and to you all.

As most of you probably know, I’ve been appointed as Parish Priest to the Parish of St. Helen’s in North Watford. I will be happy to take up my new post there, but at the same time I’m sad to be leaving St. Lawrence’s so soon, having been here just a year.

On arriving to this parish, I had been away from England for 26 years, and I consider that being appointed here has been a special grace from God. I have been privileged with the humbling task of baptising many of your children, burying some of your loved ones, hearing your confessions, visiting the sick members of the community, working with the young and generally trying to serve as best I can. For this I am so very grateful.

This parish functions because of the hidden work and holiness of so many of its parishioners who live out their love for Jesus and others in such a practical and real way. This example of simple and silent service I will carry with me as I move forward.

I would like to thank Fr. John and the Parish team in a special way for having received me with such kindness and made me feel so welcome.

Today the Gospel recounts how Jesus sent 72 disciples ahead of him and how they came back rejoicing because of the great works they had done in Jesus’ name. I feel too that the people of this parish should rejoice for the many great and hidden works that it carries out in Jesus’ name, but as Jesus says to his disciples today; “rejoice rather that your names are written in heaven.”

Thank you and God bless you all! Please pray for me as I will for you.
